We've heard Motor magazine tested some "hotly" tuned front wheel drive performance cars and Warren Luff had some serious fun with the APR tuned and SuperPro equipped Golf and Polo GTI's. They achieved some pretty impressive results including an "a__ whipping" of the base car, a brand new Focus RS with 320hp.

The 2 cars were the APR Stage 3 Golf GTI and the quintessential pocket rocket, the APR Stage 2 Polo GTI which were quoted as "... the fastest and second fastest fwd's around the circuit.."

Look out on your news stands to get a copy of the June issue to see the full details. Meanwhile, how about this....

Motor says....

The Polo is, dynamically, a dream. It has huge cornering grip.

Golf.... It's a serious bit of gear, and carried amazing speed through all of Wakefield's corners.... this is probably the fastest front-driver money can buy

"It's a really fun car without going crazy with super-stiff suspension. It allows the car to ride bumps really well" - Warren Luff
